DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF WASHINGTON COUNTY

SPRINGFIELD, KY., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 23, 1910.

NUMBER 16

GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER

Joe Reed Given Five Years in Penitentiary For Killing Jack Kimberlin.—Court Adjourned Saturday.

The jury in the case of the Commonwealth vs. Joe Reed, charged with the murder of Jack Kimberlin, arrived at a verdict Thursday night about 8 o'clock, after two hours deliberation. The jury found the defendant guilty of manslaughter and fixed his punishment at five years in the penitentiary. The trial of the case occupied Wednesday and Thursday of last week, a number of witnesses being examined for each side. The evidence was to the effect that on Saturday night, Feb. 5, 1910, a negro party was given by the defendant and Ned Johnson at the schoolhouse in Briarwood. That there was some trouble preceding the fatal affray, which the defendant attempted to quell. That thereafter the defendant was accused by the deceased of having pulled a pistol on him and then struck the defendant in the face, whereupon Reed attempted to get his pistol but was relieved of it by his brother. The evidence as to the actual occurrences at the time of the killing was more or less conflicting. It appeared, however, that within a quarter of an hour the two men met again in a different part of the building and that the trouble again arose. Reed, in the meantime, had recovered the pistol which had been taken from him and which he swore was the pistol of John Spalding and which he was caring for top Spalding. Kimberlin, it was sworn by witnesses for both the Commonwealth and defense, "made at" Reed when Reed shot him. Some of the witnesses saw the shooting in some way and some in another, while some heard the shooting but did not see it. Reed swore that Kimberlin rushed at him with an open knife in his hand and shouting, "Now I've got you," and that thereupon he brought his pistol about and shot, but that just as he shot someone grabbed his arm and that the shot went downward. It was sworn by all of the witnesses that immediately after this shot that several others were fired but it was not known, by whom. There was a hole found in the lower part of the overcoat worn by Kimberlin, which might have been made by a bullet, but concerning which there seemed to be considerable doubt. Reed was the only witness who swore that when deceased was approaching him he had an open knife in his hand, although it came out in the evidence, Sheriff Anderson testifying that a large knife with blade open was found in the pocket of Kimberlin's clothes.

Dr. J. C. Mudd, Mike Fitzgerald, and Chris Hertlein were introduced as character witnesses, all three testifying that the defendant bore an excellent reputation in this community.

The arguments were made by Attorneys John W. Lewis and W. U. McChord for the defendant and by County Attorney T. S. Hayes and Commonwealth's Attorney C. S. Hill for the prosecution, and each speaker made a telling talk, free from passion and abuse and asking the jury to abide by the law and the facts.

The attorneys for the defense made a motion and filed grounds for a new trial but were overruled by the Court and the case will probably go to the Court of Appeals.

While the verdict of the jury was a surprise to probably most of those who heard the evidence, a conviction was looked for by many and it is understood that upon the first ballot a majority of the jurors stood for ten years confinement in the penitentiary.

Circuit Court adjourned Saturday after having been in session three weeks.

During this term of Court considerable business has been transacted. Aside from the civil cases that have been disposed of, one murder case has been tried and a verdict reached, and several other lesser felony cases tried. The next term of Circuit Court begins the fourth Monday in May.

Judge Thurman, on the last day of this term of Court, upon motion of attorneys for the defendant, granted a new trial in the case of J. T. Prather, etc., plaintiff, vs. W. L. Keeling, defendant, which was decided at the last term of Court in favor of the plaintiffs.

Judge I. H. Thurman has appointed as jury commissioners for the ensuing year Messrs. Andrew Cunningham, Richard Osborne and B. B. Leachman. It is the duty of the jury commissioners to select the names of men in Washington county competent to serve on juries, from which list of names, when put in the jury wheel, the grand and petit juries are selected.

PAUL P. SHAUNTY

Shot And Instantly Killed at Ft. Douglas, Utah, Last Week. Remains Brought Here For Burial.

Laura Vandover, whose home is said to be in St. Louis, shot and killed Paul P. Shaunty, a private of the Fifteenth United States Infantry, at Fort Douglas, Salt Lake City, Utah, according to press dispatches received Thursday.

Miss Vandover says the soldier had promised to marry her, but refused to keep his word.

News of the killing was confirmed in a private telegram to the Post Dispatch by chief of police H. M. Barlow of Salt Lake City, in response to a query. The young woman is now in jail.

Self-defense probably will be Laura Vandover's defense. While she refuses to be interviewed, press dispatches say it has been learned from the county jail that her motive was to prevent him from murdering her. She states, it is said, that Shaunty had threatened her life through jealousy.

At the jail Thursday afternoon it was said she was hysterical and efforts to comfort her were of no avail. She refuses to tell anything about her relatives. The final trial against her was made out this morning by the United States Attorney and she will be held in jail until the meeting of the Federal Grand Jury in April.

The young woman saw Shaunty as he was entering the kitchen of Capt. Willis Ulm's quarters, and fired four shots at him in quick succession from an revolver. Three of them entered his breast, one piercing his heart.

Shaunty's home was at Springfield, Ky. He is said to have become acquainted with the girl two years ago, when he was stationed in Jefferson Barracks in St. Louis.

"I am not sorry for what I have done," she said to the Salt Lake City police, "and am willing to accept the consequences."—St. Louis Post Dispatch.

Paul P. Shaunty was about 29 years of age and was the son of Mrs. Salie Shaunty and the late Dr. Shaunty. He was born and raised in this county, where he made many friends, but for some years past has been in the west. Besides his mother the following brothers and sisters mourn his death: Dr. Geo. Shaunty, of Louisville; Dr. John Shaunty, of Oklahoma; Mr. Cleveland Shaunty, of Missouri; Mr. Cleveland Shaunty, a private in the regular army stationed at Vancouver, Wash.; Miss Evelyn Shaunty, of this place and Mrs. Tom Mudd, of Atlanta, Ga.

The funeral services were conducted yesterday afternoon at the Christian church, Rev. Wolfe, pastor, officiating, assisted by Revs. Lawson, Williams and King. The remains were interred in Cemetery Hill.

The clipping from the St. Louis paper states that Mr. Shaunty was shot in the heart, but examination by local physicians proved that both shots entered the back.

TWO PEOPLE CREMATED

Negro Woman and Her Child Meet Horrible Death.—While Deranged She is Thought To Have Fired Building.

A shocking tragedy occurred Monday afternoon on the farm of Mr. Palmer Grundy, at Valley Hill, when a tenant house burned, consuming in its flames two human victims, one an adult negro woman and the other an infant negro child. Another child was severely burned before it was rescued from the porch by Mr. Frank O'Neal. It is not known how the house became ignited, but the prevailing opinion is that it was fired by the dead woman, whose mind for some time has been deranged or at least unbalanced. When the flames were discovered they had gained too great headway for anyone to enter the building, and there was no chance of rescuing those who proved to be the victims of the conflagration. Both bodies were burned to a crisp. The child which escaped is two years old.

The woman who was burned was the wife of Geo. Hamilton, and the two children were their children. Geo. Hamilton is the son of Uncle Jim Hamilton, a respected negro man, who lives on High Street.

The dead woman's strange actions have caused considerable apprehension for some time, and the matter of putting her in an asylum had been considered, but nothing done, with the frightful consequences of Monday resulting.

Death of Mr. Harmon.

Mr. Taylor Harmon, formerly a well-known and wealthy citizen of this county, died at his home near Lebanon on Friday last, death being due to paralysis. Mr. Harmon was first paralyzed about two years ago and suffered a second stroke a short time since, from which he was unable to recover.

Mr. Harmon was born in Boyle county sixty-five years ago. He spent the major portion of his life in this county, where he was considered a valuable citizen. A few years ago he purchased the Sam Spalding property near Lebanon and has since resided there. Mr. Harmon was twice married, his first wife having been a Miss Whitehead, and his second wife a Miss Worford. He was the father of fifteen children, eleven of whom are now living.

The funeral services were conducted at the Methodist church at Mackville Saturday, and were attended by a vast concourse of friends. The remains were interred by the side of the body of his first wife in the Peters burying ground.

Death of Mr. Hardin.

After suffering for a long time from consumption, Mr. Sabe Hardin, a highly respected citizen of this county, died at his home near Valley Hill, Thursday, March 17th, and was buried the next day at Rockbridge church cemetery.

Mr. Hardin was a member of the well known family of that name in the north of this county. He was honest in business and a good and worthy citizen, whose loss will be felt, not only by his widow and five children, but by many others who knew and respected him.

Don't Break Down.
Severe strains on the vital organs, like strains on machinery, cause breakdowns. You can't over-tax stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels or nerves without serious danger to yourself. If you are weak or run-down, or under strain of any kind, take Electric Bitters the matches, tonic medicine. Mrs. J. E. Van de Sande, of Kirtland, Ill., writes: "That I did not break down, while enduring a most severe strain, for three months, is due wholly to Electric Bitters." Use them and enjoy health and strength. Satisfaction positively guaranteed. 50c. at Hayden & Robertson.

EVERYDAY RELIGION

When all is said and done at last and creeds have warred with creeds, When men have coined new terms to clear the ground of verbal weeds, When systems change and doctrines clash and some pass off the old To do new faiths that seem to them a clearer light to hold: Although it may be silly, yet it's back for you and me To the everyday religion that was taught at mother's knee.

The new fads have their beauty, and wellgrounded thought may bring A comfort to believers who enlist beneath their wing; Theologies andisms and the abstract and the new For those who seek adventure in soul-comforting may do: But there's nothing quite so filling in insight that I can see Like the everyday religion that we learned at mother's knee.

Some criticize the heaven of the Bible, and some smell A little too much brimstone in the old time Bible hell; This one thinks creation wasn't scientific, quite, And this one's half convinced that he has seen another light; But when they've passed opinions, and the choice is left to me, Mine's the everyday religion that we learned at mother's knee.

Just plain and sweet and simple, with its creed of faith and trust, In golden rules of brotherhood, in life beyond the dust: In joy and song eternal, if in this life we've seen it fit To obey the ten commandments—and that's all there is to it. No fancy fluff or trimming; but it's good enough for me— The everyday religion that we learn at mother's knee.—Ex.

Seriously Injured.

Mr. J. M. Shields and son, Erastus, were severely hurt in a runaway accident last week. The two gentlemen had spent the day in town and were returning to their home near Hillsboro when their horses became frightened and began to run. Their course took them from in front of the home of Mrs. Crum on toward the Bosch bridge, a very dangerous section of road. The occupants of the vehicle fearing that they would be thrown over the steep embankment this side of, or at the bridge, jumped from the vehicle. Mr. J. M. Shields sprained his ankle, while the younger man broke his leg near the ankle. Both men were hurried to town and their injuries were promptly attended to by Drs. Mudd and Ray. Both are reported to be doing well.

Death of Mrs. Orkies.
The death of Mrs. Lizzie Orkies, wife of Robert Orkies, which occurred at her home near Springfield, Friday, Mar. 18, deprives not only her family of a loving and faithful mother and wife, but the community in which she resided, of a good neighbor and useful Christian woman. Mrs. Orkies had for a long time been a sufferer from tuberculosis. She had fought valiantly against its ravages but, like all others on whom it has fastened itself, at last she succumbed.

Before her marriage to Mr. Orkies she was Miss Lizzie O'Bryan, daughter of the late Frank and Mattie O'Bryan. Beside her husband she leaves seven children.

The following is clipped from the Louisville Times' Washington letter of last week, Tuesday.
"Enthusiastic allusions to Representative Ben Johnson as 'probably the next Governor of Kentucky,' fill the Washington papers to-day. These expressions follow his remarkable work in the House on District of Columbia bills yesterday when, heading the Democrats, he defeated many objectionable measures. He was aided by representative James and soon had all the other Democrats and a Republican or two behind him. He is a member of the District Committee."

For Diseases of the Skin.

Nearly all diseases of the skin such as eczema, tetter, salt rheum and barbers' itch, are characterized by an intense itching and smarting, which often makes life a burden and disturbs sleep and rest. Quick relief may be had by applying Chamberlain's Salve. It allays the itching and smarting almost instantly. Many cases have been cured by its use. For sale by The Leo Haydon Drug Co.

..Bill Nye on Country Roads..

The following article was taken from a copy of the Springfield News, published at this place, of date May 25, 1892, of which Mr. J. N. Saunders, of Stanford, Ky., was editor:
I am glad to notice in the matter of highways that country roads are attracting a good deal of interest. Two great magazines have recently printed excellent articles on the subject, and the whole country is waking up to the fact that millions of dollars annually go toward road building that might as well go to the bottom of Lake Victoria Nyanza.

Our wagon roads throughout the country are generally a disgrace to civilization, and before we undertake to supply Jangle underwear and sealskin covered hangers, with flexible backs, to the African, it might be well to put a few dollars into the relief of galloping horses that have lost their health on our miserable highways.

The country system, as I recall it, was in my boyhood about as poor and insufficient as it could well be. Each township was divided up into road districts and each road district was presided over by an overseer of highways, whose duty it was to collect so many days work or so many dollars from each taxpayer in the district. Of course no taxpayer would pay a dollar when he could come and make mud pies on the road all day and visit and gossip with his neighbors and save his dollar too. The result seemed to be that the work done was misdirected and generally an injury to the road. With all due respect to the farmer, I will state right here that he does not know how to make roads. An all-wise Providence never intended that he should know. The professional road builder, with the money used by ignorant sapsheads and self road architects, would, in a few years, make roads in the United States over which two or three times the present axle load could be easily drawn, and the dumb beasts of the republic would rise up and call us blessed for doing so.

But things are looking brighter all the time. Even North Carolina is beginning to wake up. Asheville has sold her street bonds, and Buncombe county fully realizes that good highways will make it a paradise, while poor ones will scare away everything but the buzzards.

INTERESTING OLD PAPER

Brought to This Office—Changes Which Have Occurred in This Community Within the Past Eighteen Years.

Mrs. J. E. Leachman has brought in to our office a copy of the Springfield News of date May 26, 1892, which has proven of deep interest to us. The News, which afterwards merged with the Washington County Leader, forming the News-Leader, was then edited and published by Hon. J. N. Saunders, now a prominent lawyer of Stanford, Ky.

Many changes have occurred here within the past eighteen years. The advertisements, as appearing in this issue, show that at that time the following individuals or firms were in business, which since then have entirely discontinued or have made changes: Herdin & Saunders, att'ys-at-law; Cunningham, Medley & Co., S. M. Karriek, J. G. Mansfield, McElroy & Hardin, G. A. Dohoney, Craycroft & Thompson, J. Walter Brown, D. B. Campbell, Jerome C. C. McMill, W. J. Raybourne, W. O. Reed, Wharton Brown, W. E. Ryan, E. O. & J. R. Walker, W. L. Graham, and J. H. Walker. Many of these former well known citizens and business men have passed away, while others have moved to other places. At that time W. E. Russell was Circuit Judge, Finley Snook Commonwealth's Attorney, Major Wharton Clerk and W. H. Sweeney Master Commissioner. Judge Finley Snook was County Judge, the late Sidney Green Sheriff, the late Theo. W. Simms, Jr., County Attorney, and J. R. Smith Jailor. The late Oliver Crover was police judge and John Bailey marshal.

The pastures of the churches have been changed entirely within the eighteen years, as at that time Rev. M. Saunders was pastor of the Presbyterian church, Rev. J. A. Hogarty, of the Catholic church, Rev. J. T. McCormick, of the Methodist church, and Rev. W. C. Cleveland, of the Baptist church.

In this issue of the paper the finding of the jury in the famous Grundy will case is reported and the speeches made by Hon. J. W. S. Clements and Hon. John W. Lewis highly complimented. It being stated that the address of Mr. Lewis was probably the greatest of his life.

Also a feeling of sadness creeps over one when reading this old journal and thinking of the number of trends of that day who have traveled to "that bourne from which no traveler returns," the old sheet, nevertheless, recalls pleasant & sorrowful scenes of the part they played in the making of the history of the town and county before their earthly energies were stilled and their eyelids kissed down by eternity's sweet slumber.

Entered School at Age of 52.

Mr. T. C. Dennis, of Sharpburg, Washington county, passed through Lawrenceburg yesterday on his way to Lexington where he will enter the Bible College. He is fifty-two years of age and is a member of the first of Dennis & Satterly undertakers at Sharpburg. He said that he had devoted a number of years to his business and desired to take a rest and in order to divert his mind from business and for the benefit of the information that it would give him, he decided to apply himself during his vacation of two years to the study of the Bible.—Anderson News.

Good Cough Remedy for Children.

The season for coughs and colds is now at hand and too much care cannot be used to protect the children. A child is much more likely to contract diphtheria or scarlet fever when he has a cold. The quicker you cure his cold the less the risk. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the safe reliance of many mothers, and few of those who have tried it are willing to use any other. F. F. Starcher, of Ripley, W. Va., says: "I have never used anything other than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for my children, and it has always given good satisfaction." This remedy contains no opiates or other narcotic drugs, and is given as confidently to a child as to an adult. For sale by Leo Haydon Drug Co.

EXPECT DEBATE TO BE LONG ONE

Difference of Opinion Manifested Among Legislators as to Interstate Commerce.

BILL DRAWN BY PRESIDENT

Chief Executive Said to Have Given the Measure His Personal Attention—Projected Court of Patent Appeals—The President's Tour.

Washington.—There is every indication that the debate in the senate on the amendments to the interstate commerce act will be long drawn out and that it will be marked by many of the acrimonious features of the earlier debate of last spring and summer. The alignment of senators on the measure will not be exactly the same as that on the customs measure, but the majority of those who will be in opposition to the bill as it was introduced will be the senators who fought many of the provisions of the Payne-Aldrich bill.

It is doubtful if there ever was introduced into congress a bill upon which there were exactly so many diverse opinions as there are upon this measure which the senate now has under consideration. Of course the measure affects largely the interests of the members of the interstate commerce commission, and yet the members of the commission themselves are at variance in their views as to the efficiency of the bill in some of its particulars. The amendments were prepared in the first instance by the committee appointed by President Taft, every one of the members of which was a lawyer of high standing. Then Mr. Taft went over the measure himself, bringing to bear on it all his judicial training. The cabinet officers look it up and sanctioned it and said it was proof against attack in the courts.

Experts Disagree.

There never was such a case perhaps of supposed experts disagreeing on the efficiency of a bill. There is a provision in the proposed legislation which allows the railroads to enter into traffic agreements on the condition that the agreements be submitted to the interstate commerce commission, who are to pass upon the question as to whether the rate as an average is exorbitant.

Some members of the interstate commerce commission declare that this takes away much from the proposition as advanced originally by Theodore Roosevelt. The former president agreed that the railroads should be allowed to make traffic pools, but said that the interstate commerce commission should be given the power to dissolve them provided it was shown that the pools were contrary to what might be considered public policy.

Other members of the commission say that as long as they have the power to get at the rate that is all that is necessary and all in which the people are interested. Mr. Taft and his lawyer members of the cabinet hold to this view and seem to believe that they have smoothed the path through many difficulties by giving the railroads the going right under the law.

President Taft believes that appeal cases pending in the supreme court of the attorney general's office for defense because he has implicit confidence in the ability and sincerity of the law officers connected with the cabinet department. Moreover, he is averse to multiplying the legal department of the government.

For Court of Patent Appeals.

For years the lawyers of the country, particularly the patent lawyers, have endeavored to get congress to pass a bill to establish a United States court of patent appeals. Senator Beveridge recently introduced such a bill in the senate and the judicial committee, through Senator Brown of Nebraska, has just reported it favorably.

The day that this bill was reported to the senate it happened that Frederick P. Fish, an eastern attorney, and who he called the father of the proposed legislation.

vention of his own, on the theory that if the people were encouraged to invent, the business would take care of itself. As a result, we were made a nation of inventors, and we have outstripped the world in the field of mechanics.

"Yet we have no system today whereby inventors or the owners of patents can be surely spared the enormous costs and loss of time incident to endless litigation. I would venture to say, from my own experience, that more than half the patents which the people have tried to use have been in litigation at their expiration. The period consumed in litigation, of course, comes out of the life of the patent, and every month of delay is just so much loss not only to the owner, but to the public who would get the benefit of the patent. We have industrial concerns in this country that spend from $500,000 to $1,000,000 a year developing patents. If the validity of these patents could be assured promptly, not only would the gain to their owners be great, but the value to the people of the United States would run into uncountable millions.

Salaries Not Adequate.

"With issues as great as this at stake, it would seem that congress should look broadly at the question and establish the court on a generous basis. I believe a salary of $12,000 for the chief justice and $11,000 for the associate justices is not too great if we are to have a court of patent appeals composed of the ablest judges in the country. The present bill provides salaries of $10,000 and $9,500 respectively. This appears to be a large remuneration, but it is not, under the circumstances. I fear it is not adequate to enable the establishment of the court on a proper basis.

President's Perforating Tour.

President Taft, who is apparently extremely fond of travel, not so much, his friends say, for travel's sake, but because he has thought that he ought to give to the people personally and by word of mouth his ideas of government, will start from Washington March 15 on an eight days' journey. It is perfectly true that an outline of the president's speaking program, already prepared, shows that as far as texts are concerned, he has chosen only one great legislative subject on which to speak, but if precedent counts for anything he probably will say a great many things concerning matters of legislative moment while talking on announced subjects that have particular bearing on legislative matters.

The president will go from Washington to New York, where he will address a meeting of the members of the Society of Foreign Wars. He will have something to say about patriotism in time of war and this naturally will lead to a discussion of the higher patriotism which induces men to take an active interest in their country's affairs in time of peace.

In Chicago the president will address the newspaper men, the Irish Fellowship club and a great meeting of persons interested in conserving the natural resources of the country. This conservation meeting is the one at which Mr. Taft, as far as we know, has no previous engagements, but he is to speak on a subject which is before congress for legislation.

Firm Friend of Conservation.

Because of the widespread interest in the Ballinger-Pitcher inquiry and the charges and countercharges that have been made by the men who are involved in the trouble, it is said that Mr. Taft fears the people will get the idea that he is not the same firm advocate of conservation that he once was. He has been very active in the cause of his absolute desire that the natural resources should be saved that he separated his messages to congress and gave one entirely devoted to the cause of conservation. This message was sent by itself so that there would be no other matter to distract the attention of congress from the prime subject which this president wanted it to consider.

Outline of Probable Law.

It is probable that congress will pass a law which, so far as it will separate the surface of the public lands from the deposits which lie underneath. In other words, there will be one means of disposing of the hidden mineral wealth and another means of disposing of the right to farm the government broadacre, if the Taft idea is to be carried out, wants to retain such control of the mineral wealth underlying the public lands that it can lease the land and derive some pecuniary benefit rather than to turn them over to great corporations as has been the policy done in the past. There are great conservation measures, however, which have been recommended and which probably will not get to the top of law at this session. The president probably will have a word to say on these measures.

From the City of the Lakes, Mr. Taft will go east to Rochester, New York, where he will deliver a message to the Tuberculosis congress.

The president will remain two days in Albany as a guest of Gov. Hughes. After leaving the capital of New York state Mr. Taft will go to New Haven to attend a meeting of the National Association, of which he is a member. Then he will go to Providence, Rhode Island, to the annual meeting of the jewelers, and from there he will go to New York to deliver two speeches, one before a Republican gathering at noon on March 23, to take up one more his struggles with congress and cuffs of abuse.

The Sown in Farrow.

Nothing is so certain to produce a small and unprofitable litter of pigs as to have the sow in farrow to share her lotter bed with a pen of half-grown shoats or with other sows. In summer she will go to some secluded spot to make her bed and thus escape the danger of crowding. In winter or early spring, however, she cannot overcome the habit of huddling up with the lot, even up to her time, and thus endangering her offspring.

The thrifty farmer will provide separate pens or lots, and plenty, but not too much, straw and shelter from rain. After the pigs are a week old two or three sows may be run together. Of course, it takes more time to water and feed the sows separately this way, but it pays to do it.

It is a great disappointment and a real loss of time and feed to have your promising brood sow turn up with only one or two pigs. If it is your fault you cannot make it up this season and by another the golden opportunity may have passed.—Farmers Home Journal.

STOLEN.—This morning (Thursday, March 17) I new Arnold buggy from my repository. Painted, bed black, with dark green gear, 42-inch fenders, arched axle, 24 inch bed. Full leather top, curtain and back. Case hardened spindle with brass-lined boxing. The only one I have ever made like this. $25.00 reward for the party or parties.

R. M. ARNOLD, Danville, Ky.

Due in large measure to the continued dry weather, the remnant of the tobacco crop in the county has been slow in coming on the market, although the demand continues strong, and the sales made during the past week were at prices which were very satisfactory. It is thought that a few more days of suitable weather will be sufficient for the farmers to put the remainder of their crops in condition for delivery, which all those who expect to sell on the loose leaf market before its close are urged to do at the earliest opportunity, as the indications now are that the sales will be discontinued after April 1st.

Good Show.

The Harry Scott Co. presented the musical comedy, "The Girl From U. S. A." at the Opera House last Wednesday night to a comparatively large audience. Unlike most musical comedies "The Girl From U. S. A." has a distinct plot and the actors and actresses who assumed the different roles played them very acceptably. The singing was not especially good, but good singing is not heard, as a rule, in musical comedies. Probably Otto Thebus as Lieutenant Lindley, were the best of the company.

Indigestion

Relief in Five Minutes and Permanent Cure or Money Back.

When a druggist states that he has a remedy that is guaranteed to cure any man or woman who suffers from food fermentation which causes belching, sour stomach, gas eructations, heartburn and that lump of lead feeling in the abdomen or money back what are the poor stomach sufferers in Springfield and vicinity going to do about it?

The name of this most remarkable stomach prescription is Mi-o-na. Most people call them Mi-o-na stomach tablets because they know that there is a remedy so good for indigestion or stomach disorders. Here is one opinion.

"I have been troubled with indigestion for more than a year. I bought one box of Mi-o-na and it cured me. Now I would not be without a box in the house for $50.00. It saves a lot of doctor bills when you can be cured for 50 cents."

You can use my name if you want to.—Arthur Soderquist, 6 Nichols St., Wakefield, Mass. Nov. 7, 1909.

Mi-o-na stomach tablets cost 50 cents a box at drug stores everywhere and at Leo Haydon Drug Co. Booth's Pills will give constipation sufferers joyful surprise. 25.

VALLEY HILL.

During the past three weeks of lovely weather, such as has never been experienced here during March, the farmers have forged ahead with their work and scored another headway for an excellent crop. The past winter having been so severe naturally leads us to anticipate an unusual season, both in being early and seasonable for crops.

Work being the order here all social functions have been sorely neglected, therefore we fall short of good news items, not from the fact that our village is unenterprising, however, for such is not the case. Everything is on the boom—farming and all other business adaptable to the rural sections.

Mrs. Carrie Porter, of Louisville, was the guest of Mrs. Palmer Gostley, of this place, last week.

Lucien Gregory, of Pleasant Grove, was in our midst Saturday on business. Those who attended "The Girl From U. S. A." in Springfield on the 17th instant, report an excellent play, together with a good moral and patriotic cast.

W. R. Moran, who has been boarding at the home of Mrs. Ida Clarkson while attending school in Springfield, is now at home. He will continue attending school, however, but will reside at home.

Mrs. Walter Boyle, of Owensboro, is the guest of Mrs. Palmer Gostley this week.

We hope for good weather, but how about having March in April? Oh! hush.

Overheard a fellow discussing, or jussicing, an attack of hay fever that usually follows warm weather. Guess it is the same fever that affects the writer when the sun shines bright.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Sutton visited relatives at Thompsonville, Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Chas. Lewis and daughter, Miss Nannie, of Litsey, were guests of relatives at this place, Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jewett Brown, of near Springfield, were in our midst Saturday.

Louis Head was the guest of his uncle, W. F. Moran, of this place, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Gostley visited relatives near Maud Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Grundy, of this place, visited relatives at Pleasant Grove Sunday.

Hill, visited relatives in this section, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Whiteman, of Pleasant Grove, visited relatives at Midway, Sunday.

Geo. Mulvan, of Springfield, purchased a horse from Sam Leachman at $75.00, this week.

Will Houston, of Maud, passed through our village Sunday, en route to Mackville, where Dan Cupid has directed his footsteps in quest of a divine inspiration, known only to himself. Success to you, Billie.

PLANKED CHICKEN.

This Recipe Will Serve Two or Four Persons Liberally.
Select a chicken of about two pounds to weight and cut off the neck on a line with the top of the collar bone. Cut the chicken down the entire length of the backbone, clean and wash inside and out. Flatten the breast bone with a cleaver or wooden mallet, and unjoint the wings and second joints. Let it broil, skin side down, over a bed of coals or under the gas flame about six minutes, then turn and cook about three minutes on the skin side.

THE CHICKEN READY TO SERVE.

Baste liberally with butter and let it cook in the oven (or farther from the gas flame) about an hour. Baste occasionally with melted butter.

Have a plank made hot in the oven. Set the chicken on the plank, skin side down. Fill the space between the chicken and the wings and second joints with hot, boiled rice. About the chicken dispose four flowers of hot cooked cauliflower, four corn fritters, four stuffed tomatoes and four slices of bacon, rolled, pinned with a wooden toothpick and fried in deep fat. Serve cream or Hollandaise sauce in a bowl.

Woman's World

MRS. TAFT'S UNDERSTUDY.

Mrs. Louis More, who represents the President's wife at State Functions. Since the illness of Mrs. Taft her sister, Mrs. Louis More, has been her constant companion. As it is still imperative that the president's wife should be spared all unnecessary fatigue, Mrs. More will represent the first lady of the land and she was carefully educated at most of the large social functions of the gay Washington season, which began officially with the public reception on New Year's day.

On this occasion Mrs. Taft, looking very attractive in a toilet of blue silk and crystal beads, made a circuit of the state rooms, greeting some old friends en route, returning in twenty minutes to her own apartments upstairs in the executive mansion. Mrs. More is among the youngest of the six attractive daughters of Judge Tieron of Cincinnati. She was born in the old home where her father still resides, and she was carefully educated, as were all her sisters. She is among the most bookish of her sisters, and is a student of the law. Having married a university man has strengthened this tendency, so that Mrs. More is more at home in the domain of the higher branches than most women here, are not out and out bookworms. She is gracious and chatty in ordinary intercourse and takes a great interest in people and in following the course of public events. But she is more literary and domestic in her inclinations and cannot claim to a thorough knowledge of politics, which has always distinguished Mrs. Taft.

Mr. George Kays and wife visited their sister at Williamsburg, Sunday.

Bloody Duel.

One of the bloodiest duels ever fought in this section of the State occurred near Bourne, three miles beyond Bryantville, in Garrard county, late Thursday afternoon, between Luther Ray and Greendore Turner.

The men lived on adjoining farms and an old grudge had existed between them for several years. Recently they are alleged to have had trouble over a boundary line. They met for the first time Thursday afternoon. Turner, in company with his son, Gilbert Turner, and his cousin, Frank Turner, was passing along the road, while Ray was standing just inside the fence on his farm. Both Turner and Ray were armed with double barreled shot guns and revolvers. They first emptied their shot guns at each other and then resorted to their revolvers and began another volley.

Both were wounded before their guns were emptied of the first loads, but showing the most remarkable nerve, reloading and continued firing. Turner fell dead in his tracks and Ray received five wounds, one in his head, another his side and still another charge lodged in his shoulder. Two flesh wounds were also inflicted. The bullet which entered his head was removed last night by Drs. Elliott and Kinnard. It had lodged just outside the brain. Ray is conscious, but the chances are against his recovery. He states, it is alleged, that Frank Turner did not fire any shots and it is not generally believed that any shots were fired by Gilbert Turner.

Neither of the boys were arrested. Old citizens in the community say that never in the history of this section of the State has there been fought a duel where such fearlessness and nerve were shown.—Danville Advocate.
